SERVICES FOR GOOD FRIDAY

Good Friday is the usual English name for the day observed throughout a great part of Christendom as the anniversary of the passion and death of Christ. Among the Latins the names of most frequent occurrence are Pascha Crucis, Dies Dominice, Passiois, Parasceve, Feria Sexta, Paschae, Feria Sexta Major in Hierusalem, Dies Absolutionis. It was called Long Friday by the Anglo-Saxons and Danes. The origin of the custom of a yearly commemoration of the Crucifixion is involved in some obscurity. It may be regarded as certain, however, that among Jewish Christians it almost imperceptibly grew out of the old habit of annually celebrating the Feast of the Passover on the 14th of Nisan, and of observing the "days of unleavened bread" from the 15th to the 21st of that month. In the Gentile churches, however, it seems to be well established that originally no yearly cycle of festivals was known at all. The weekly observance of the dies dominice, however, became universal at an early date, and the practice of giving special prominence to Easter Sunday, as well as that of keeping a previous fast of considerable duration, though of indeterminate duration, had established itself in Egypt and in the Western churches at least by the middle of the second century. It is clear that Occidental feeling had begun early to take offense at Eastern practices. In Asia Minor, Syria and Mesopotamia the 14th and 16th Nisan were specially observed, altogether irrespective of the day of the week, and for this apostolic sanction was urged by Polycarp; but Anicetus of Rome, with great earnestness, though still with deference, pleaded immemorial usage for the custom of observing a Friday and Saturday fast, followed by an Easter Sunday feast. To secure uniformity in this matter was one of the objects for which the Council of Nice was convened in 325; no canon, however, was framed by the fathers there assembled, but it was recommended in a circular letter that Easter should invariably be observed on a Sunday, and that the Passion should, with equal regularity, be commemorated on Friday. From the earliest period of its observance the day has been marked by a specially rigorous fast, and also, on the whole, by a tendency to greater simplicity in the public services of the church. In the Romish church the altar and officiating clergy are draped in black, this being the only day on which this color is permitted. In the Greek Church also the Good Friday fast is excessively strict; towards evening a dramatic representation of the entombment takes place, amid open demonstrations of contempt for Judas. In Lutheran churches the organ is silent for the day and the altar and font are draped in black. In the Church of England the history of the Passion from the Gospel according to John is read.

At the Catholic Cathedral the following order of services will be observed:

9:00 a. m.—Holy service, with singing of the passion and adoration of the holy cross.
3:00 p. m.—Native sermon, with stations of the cross.
7:00 p. m.—Stations of the cross in Portuguese.
8:00 p. m.—English sermon on the passion.

The services at St. Clement's Chapel, Punahou, will be as follows:

7:00 a. m.—Liturgy.
11:05 a. m.—Morning prayer.
2:00 to 3:00 p. m.—Meditation.
7:30 p. m.—Evensong.

At St. Andrew's Cathedral, Good Friday services will be observed as follows:

7:00 a. m.—Ante-communion office.
11:00 a. m.—Morning prayer, litany and sermon.
1:30 p. m.—Addresses on the seven words from the cross.
4:00 p. m.—Hawaiian service.
7:30 p. m.—Evensong and sermon.

Kawaiahao Church will observe Easter with special services, 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The choir will render Easter anthems and hymns, and Rev. H. H. Parker will preach in Hawaiian at the morning service. In the evening the choir will sing both in Hawaiian and English. The Kawaiahao Seminary girls will assist in the music, and Rev. W. D. Westervelt will preach in English; subject, "How Easter Came."

Easter services at the Methodist Episcopal Church will commence at 11 a. m., as follows:
Voluntary—"Gloria." First Mass. Hayden.
Anthem—"Resurrection." Leslie.
Offertory—"Calvary." Rodney.
Sermon—"Christ the First Fruits."
7:30 p. m.—A Sunday school Easter concert, organ music, singing and recitations; address by the pastor.

There will be a final rehearsal of the Easter music at Central Union Church tomorrow evening at 7:30. A full attendance is earnestly requested by the leader.

An attorney of prominence in Ohio, Tom Corwin, was trying a case "on circuit" in a small town where he was known only by name. The judge was apparently prejudiced against him, and he felt that he was not getting his rights. At length, in a fit of exasperation, he exclaimed: "Your honor, it was in just such a court as this that Jesus Christ was convicted." "Sit down," Mr. Corwin, said the judge; "Mr. Clerk, enter a fine of one hundred dollars against Mr. Corwin for contempt of court." Corwin sat down, and immediately rose, remarking: "May it please the court, I am fairly well versed in history, both sacred and profane, and this is the first instance I have heard of where it was called contempt of court to insult Pontius Pilate." "Sit down, Mr. Corwin," repeated the judge; "Mr. Clerk, enter another fine of one hundred dollars against Mr. Corwin." Again the attorney arose and glanced leisurely around the court-room. Then he addressed the bench. "I presume, your honor, that if that fine is not paid I shall be put in jail?" "You certainly will, sir." "Well, your honor, I am a stranger in a strange land. I have looked around the court-room and see no friends. I see no familiar face save that of your honor, and if the court would in its wisdom make me a personal loan of that two hundred dollars, it would be a great convenience." The judge leaned forward. "Mr. Clerk," said he, "strike off those fines. The State can afford to lose the money much better than I can."
